Dedication

Often a school is fortunate enough to have an exceptional teacher on its faculty for a few terms. Greenville High School has enjoyed such a privilege for 30 years.

Now, as Mr. Oliver leaves Greenville for a position in Dayton, his many achievements may be evaluated. His wide versatility enabled him to teach English, German, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, journalism, and physics. He instituted the journalism course and supervised the G.H.S. Advocate Staff and Reporters' Club until 1963. Mr. Oliver's other extracurricular activities included play directing and sports coaching. His widely diversified interests show Mr. Oliver's concern for every phase of life at Greenville High School.

For so many years of constructive guidance to his thousands of students, the class of '65 dedicates its "Chief" to John E. Oliver.

The Green and White

Hail to the Spirit of old Greenville High
Hurrah for its valor and might;
Hail to the colors unfurled to the sky,
Hurrah for the Green and White.

Green are fields, when Summer is here,
White are the drifts, when Winter appears.
Hail! Hail to the Banner of old G.H.S.
Hurrah for the Green and White.

The English department is the most necessary and functional of all the academic divisions in the school.

Without the ability to speak and write effectively, students are unprepared for any position they attempt to attain. Besides teaching these two basic skills, our English teachers give the students a thorough background in English and American literature, both prose and poetry, and help them understand material through research papers and special projects.

The sophomore classes concentrate on grammar review and English literature; juniors specialize in American authors. The seniors return to the study of English literature and also to the writing of research papers and in-depth reports.

The honor system is used, in which students may earn grades with higher point values by being placed in advanced classes.

Civics

In the rapidly shrinking world of today vague knowledge of happenings around the globe will not give a student the understanding that is necessary for responsible citizenship.

In geography courses students learn about the topographical and economic conditions of faraway countries. Through history, students learn of the past, which points out the mistakes that may lie in the future. An understanding of the present is stressed in civics, where students do weekly reports followed by class discussions on current events.

In Biology, the study of living things, students receive a thorough background in the structure of all organic matter. Chemistry teaches those enrolled about the combination of elements that make up all substances, and physics teaches about the relation of matter to forces acting upon it.

Knowledge of filing procedure, accounting, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and the operation of business machines is available not only to all students enrolled in the commercial course, but also to all students enrolled in other curricula.

The commercial department renders a great many services to the school. Members of the business classes type grade cards, grade card envelopes, programs for the Honors' banquet, and address envelopes for night school and summer school programs.

Through work of this nature students gain experience in the business field which will be useful to them after graduation. The business students have the advantage of using many business machines and sample material. Upon the completion of the business courses, students have a firm foundation in all areas of office experience.

Home Economics

Girls enrolled in the Home Economics course have a choice of varied courses to take.

In her four years in Home Economics, a typical girl will learn how to cook, bake, sew, keep house, plan meals, care for the sick, and decorate. Such training is essential if girls are expected to keep homes of their own after graduation.

In well equipped kitchens, the girls experiment with many types of food. In the course of a year, they prepare every possible type of dish. In the sewing rooms, the girls each make several articles of clothing for themselves, as well as mend other clothes.

The Home Economics Department offers the most practical preparation possible for girls who plan a career in this area.

Industrial Arts and Vocational Agriculture Departments

The Industrial Arts department is divided into two areas; wood shop and metal shop.

In the metal shop boys learn how to work with all types of metals, and the operation of equipment and machinery necessary to this type of work.

Boys in the wood shop learn to work with wood, and to build things from it. Projects range from bird houses to much larger objects, which require the use of the extensive wood shop machinery.

In vocational agriculture boys learn about the operation of a modern farm and the maintenance of farm equipment.

These departments give boys useful training for the work that awaits them after graduation.

Future Teachers of America

The Future Teachers of America give service to teachers, the school system, and the community.

Members earn their club points by helping teachers in every way they can. Future Teachers took attendance at the Greenville Senior High college night, and taught as student teachers in both the elementary schools and junior high school. One novel activity was the exchange of cabinet members with the Mississiniwa Valley chapter. These cabinet members presented programs for each other's meeting. The Fall Bake Sale provided revenue for the club. All members enjoyed the two social functions of the club—the Christmas party and the spring Banquet.

Future Homemakers of America

The Future Homemakers of America started off the year '64-65 with the initiation of new members in September. A skating party co-sponsored with the F.F.A., cleaning and polishing the school trophies, and serving as hostesses for college night were the October activities. At the regular November meeting, a Greenville businessman spoke to the chapter on "Why a High School Education Is Important for Girls I Employ." The Senior Girl-of-the-Month was Shirley Besecker. The features during December were a dinner and Christmas Party at which the Senior members presented skits and later took tray favors to area rest homes. The F.H.A. was responsible for the concession stand during the first half of the basketball season. Mr. Irvin spoke at the January meeting on "The Value of Extra-Curricular Activities." The Junior Girl-of-the-Month was Ann Kelly. Proceeds from the Bake Sale in February were donated to the Ohio Mental Health Project. Sophomore Girl-of-the-Month was Lindsay Trissel. The Candy Sale and Parents' Night Out were the main events in March. The State F.H.A. meeting and the Annual Banquet where the Senior members of F.H.A. and F.F.A. were honored was held in April. Also the installation of the 1965-66 officers took place in April. In May there was the Breakfast for the new and old cabinet members. The F.H.A. concluded the year's activities with a picnic to which it invited all the Freshman girls in Home Economics.

Future Farmers of America

The Future Farmers of America sponsor many worthwhile projects and activities. The members hold a safe driving contest and an automobile safety check for the public. For the school safety assembly, the F.F.A. sponsored Duane Carter, Indianapolis speedway driver, who gave a fine safety show. The members of F.F.A. belong to different judging teams and compete for various foundation awards. This year Wayne Baker received the State Horticulture Foundation Award and Terry Haworth, Bob Fasnacht, Joe Beatty, and Steve Miller were declared State Farmers. The Greenville chapter as a whole won the State Safety Award. The organization sends five boys to national convention and as many as possible to the state convention and state F.F.A. camp. They conclude the school year activities with a Parent-Son Banquet and a Slave Auction at which the members sell themselves as slaves for a day.

Permanent Staff

The permanent staff of the GHS Advocate is chosen from six weeks staff members. Miss Lewis selects the editor or editors, who are seniors. The editors then select the other permanent staff members to assist them. The permanent staff is chosen on the basis of interest in journalism and skill in reporting. The assistant and associate editors, in addition to the above, must be able to do layout work, write headlines, and be accurate in proofreading and copyreading. The permanent staff publishes the GHS Advocate during the second semester. At the end of the semester, they relinquish their positions to the new Junior staff members who publish the last three copies of the GHS Advocate.

Six Weeks' Staff

The members of the Reporters' Staff elect the members of the six weeks' staff three times during the first semester. It is the staff's duty to publish the GHS Advocate and the Mirror during its term in office.

The club also publishes six issues of the GHS Mirror throughout the year.

Teens' Christian Club

Membership in the Teens' Christian Club is open to any girl in Greenville Senior High School. Through its yearly activities and projects, the TCC fulfills its high purpose—the promotion of Christian attitudes and service in such a way as to encourage its members in good Christian living. The 1964-65 activities began with the building of the Homecoming float in October. The Mothers' Club helped with the Fall Mother-Daughter Mixer. Members of the TCC presented the Thanksgiving assembly. They attended church on a given Sunday, sponsored a service project—this year they gave money to buy necessities for needy GSHS students. A semi-formal dance, "Shangri-La," open to all GSHS students and their dates on March 10, 1965, and the honoring of Senior members and the installation of new officers at the Senior Spring Tea concluded the year's activities.

Stage Crew

Stage Crew members are the "men behind the scenes." Without them all the school assemblies and shows at the Memorial Hall would not be possible. They build, repair, mend, and move the sets or stage scenery for the productions. The crew controls all the lights, curtains, and sound effects during the performances.

Library Aids

The Greenville Senior High School Library Aids help the Librarian run the school library efficiently. During all periods of the day, they check books—in and out—and the library attendance lists of students. The library aids also process all new books, mend or repair old books, and arrange the books on the shelves correctly. Keeping the file catalogue and magazine rack current concludes the duties of the aids.

Office Help

Each period of the day two girls help in the office by filing and alphabetizing cards, typing announcements, running errands, and doing other assignments. During the first and sixth periods, they collect attendance slips and help with recording attendance. Passing out the announcements and attendance sheet during second and seventh periods completes their duties.

Treasurer—Steve Miller

President—David Miley

Secretary—Lynn Johnson

The class of 1965 began as freshmen with over 300 students. As freshmen we elected class officers, student council members and had a tax stamp drive. As sophomores we were the first class to enter the new school building. As juniors we had the Junior-Senior Prom "Moonlight and Roses", Junior Class Play "Pride and Prejudice", and got our class rings. We the seniors are the first class to attend all three years in the Senior High School. Our Senior Class Play was "Our Town", and the Junior-Senior Prom was "Sayonara". The class of 1965 also had a record-breaking magazine drive. The sales totaled over $10,000.00.

Baccalaureate

Baccalaureate ceremonies commenced with the entrance of the Seniors into the gym.

The class listened intently to the message presented to them.

Class members march out to the strains of the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance".

Mrs. Kathryn Griner, Dean of Girls, talks with the Baccalaureate speakers. They are left to right: Rev. Harold Huffman, who presented the Scripture; Rev. Father William Welch, who presented the Invocation and Benediction; and Rev. Don R. Yocum, who presented the class Sermon.

All ready now?

Commencement

Rev. John McRoberts presented the Invocation and Benediction at Commencement.

B. D. Hensel, Superintendent of city schools, introduced the main speaker.

Robert E. Lucas, Superintendent of Princeton City Schools, presented the class address, "What About Tomorrow?"

Principal Coney Cornett presented the Class of 1965.

James Mannix, President of the Board of Education, rose to present the diplomas.

Mary Ann says thanks with a smile.

Graduated Seniors rise for the Recessional.

Greenville Senior High School is 879 Students working, playing, laughing, enjoying their high school years.

This has been the theme of our '65 Chief. We have tried to show every phase of high school life and the enjoyment the students get from their activities.

But now we Seniors leave Greenville Senior High School, and this book is a permanent record of our accomplishments. Our '65 Chief symbolizes not only the memories of the class, but also what we have done in our high school years. The fact that you are holding this book in your hand is a tribute to about twenty seniors who have tried to make this Chief the best ever, and I think we have. This annual is also a tribute to the entire senior class, for without the record breaking magazine sales, the staff couldn't have started to achieve their goal.

In giving credit to the seniors and the people responsible for our Chief it is impossible to leave out Mrs. Griner. We wish to thank her for allowing us to have our annual the way we wanted it to be, and for her patient guidance and prodding when we were behind in our work. Mr. Phelps, too was always willing to take any picture a member of the staff wanted. We appreciate all the time he donated to make our Chief a reality.

The Taylor Publishing Company and Osborne Studios were a great help to the staff. We wish to thank them for their prompt service and ready answers to our questions.

So now our '65 Chief is finished. I would personally like to thank my staff—for your hard work, understanding, and moral support when times got rough. This has been a wonderful experience for me. I hope it has been the same for you, and for all who will read this book and remember the class of '65.

Sincerely,

Linda Gauheaux
